Accreditation

Los Angeles Harbor College (Harbor College) is a public two-year college providing educational services under the Los Angeles Community College District Board of Trustees.

Harbor College was visited by the Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior Colleges, Western Association of Schools and Colleges, evaluation team on March 12-15, 2012.

The Commission took action to impose probation to the college in its meeting on June 6-8, 2012 with a requirement that the college complete a Progress Report by March 15, 2013; the report was followed by a visit of Commission representatives.

On July 3, 2013, Los Angeles Harbor College’s accreditation was reaffirmed by the Accrediting Commission for Community and Junior College.

A Brief History

In 1941 the Education Committee of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce petitioned the Los Angeles City Board of Education to establish trade extension classes at Banning High School to meet critical, war-inspired training needs.

Realizing that such trade extension classes would not be a long-range answer to the educational needs of the area, the Educational Committee (expanded in 1945 to include representatives from San Pedro and Lomita), called a meeting of representatives of key industries located in the harbor area to discuss the need for either a trade or technical school.

After surveys of projected population, property valuation, and employment possibilities, these community leaders indicated a need for such a post-high school institution, and the Education Committee then petitioned the Los Angeles City Board of Education to provide such a school in the area.

Los Angeles Harbor College officially opened in September 1949. The College has grown from an enrollment of 400 students to a current enrollment of approximately 9,500 students. While still maintaining a technical program, the academic and general education offerings have increased to meet the changing needs of the community.

Mission

Los Angeles Harbor College fosters learning through comprehensive programs that meet the educational needs of the community as measured by student success, personal and institutional accountability, and integrity.

Vision

Harbor College provides a stimulating learning environment that prepares members within the community to meet goals and opportunities successfully.

Values

Harbor Student Success, Excellence, Integrity, A Supportive Environment, Personal and Institutional Accountability, and Civic Responsibility
Students
Harbor College enrolled 9,525 students in the Fall 2012 semester. In the Fall 2013 semester residents of California are charged $46 per unit to attend one of the State’s public community colleges. In addition to the standard enrollment fee, non-residents pay $190 per unit while international students pay $212 per unit. Anyone 18 years of age or older is eligible for admission. Persons younger than 18 may enroll with special permission. A majority of our students are employed either part-time or full-time.

Academic Divisions and Departments
Los Angeles Harbor College has eight academic divisions: Business; Communications; Health Sciences; Humanities and Fine Arts; Mathematics, Physical Sciences and Technology; Physical Education; Science—Family and Consumer Studies; and Social and Behavioral Sciences.
