Dear Los Angeles Harbor College Student,

Are you a Former Foster Youth or veteran?

Do you want to plan your goals make your educational dreams a reality?

Do you want to Graduate and transfer to a university?

Do you have questions about financing your education and life plan, but don’t know where to get answers?

Look no more, the Achieving the Dream Financial Literacy Program has chosen YOU!

Finishing college can be difficult, especially when dealing with financial hardships, lack of proper resources or educational support. Los Angeles Harbor College, with the help of Bank of America and a non-profit organization called MDC, has initiated a program to help veterans and former foster youth reach their dreams. The Achieving The Dream Financial Literacy Program will utilize Los Angeles Harbor College services, as well as off-campus resources, to help students gain confidence in managing their own educational goals and financial stability.

Personalized Coaching

Students will meet with a specialized counselor to help set their own goals.

On-going Workshops

Housing, financial literacy and educational opportunities are just some of many topics.

Weekly Contact

Weekly phone calls/emails will be set up so that you will always have a support system.

Please email us back and we will send you information about our first meeting taking place in August. We look forward to hearing back from you soon!

Thank you,

ATD Financial Literacy Program

Contact Eric Romero for more information: romeroea@lahc.edu or call 310-233-4097